Genealogical Gem-The Newly Released 1926 census

A census of the Irish Free State was held on 18 April 1926. A parallel census for Northern Ireland was held the same day. These were the first Irish censuses since the partition of Ireland of 1920–1925. The previous all-island census had been in 1911; the decennial census due in 1921 was cancelled because the revolutionary Irish Republic had urged a boycott of it as being a project of the Dublin Castle administration it was fighting in the Irish War of Independence. The 1926 Free State data was made freely accessible online on 18 April 2026, the centenary of the census.

Celebrating our Nation's Independence.

Irish America: The Poem

Micheal O'Siadhail, Ireland's beloved poet – and fitting bard for Irish America – reads Irish America. It's a heartfelt tribute to our shared heritage in honor of the 250th birthday.
